TO LET

From the Washington Chronicle, Jan. 3.

XXXIX Congress—First Session.

Evening Session—Mr. Wood, of New York, in the Chair.

The appropriation for the Freedmen's Bureau being under discussion, Mr. Elliott, of Massachusetts, having concluded his remarks, Mr. Morrissey, of New York, obtained the floor.

Mr. Morrissey, (Dem., New York.)—Mr. Speaker, I arise on the present occasion, sir, to say my say with regard to this bureau concern, about which we have already heard so much from the other side. I think it is high time our side of the house should be heard upon the subject, and all I want you to do, sir, is to keep them fellers quiet and don't let them come the gag over me with their "orders" and "previous questions." I don't ask no odds from no one. This is a free fight I take it—give us a fair show and the devil take the hindmost. I can charge around in my own high grass and fight my own flies. D—m a nigger! Mr. Speaker, the glorious charter of our liberties, the Constitution of the United States, says that all men are created equal; and now, sir, I should like to know where in that document you can find one word about the nigger; d—n the nigger! Just tell me that, will you? Is the nigger mentioned at all? And wouldn't our forefathers have said something about him if they thought he was worth mentioning at all? D—n a nigger! Mr. Speaker, was George Washington a nigger? Was General Putnam, or any other hero of the Revolution, except Benedict Arnold, who ought to have been one? And anybody who says the Czar of Russia or Queen Victoria is a nigger lies, and he knows it. D—m a nigger. [Cries of "order."]

Mr. Morrissey—If that red-headed cuss from Wisconsin don't stop his jaw I'll catch him some night in Shad's oyster cellar and spread his nose all over his face. D—m a nigger! I ain't afraid of no man in this House. I have reached the hight of my ambition. I have been a wharf rat, chicken thief, prize fighter, gambler, and member of Congress. I have gone round the circle and left the Constitution and the flag with my constituents, and d—m the nigger! [Small boy in the gallery, "Hail Columbia?"]

Some one has said that Fred. Douglass was fitter for this seat than I am. I can lick the Abolition cuss that said that, and get backers a hundred to one. You can't come the guy gugles over me, so you needn't try it on. I am a free American citizen, and I'll bust the head of that grinning chap from Iowa if he don't shut up his flaytrap—d—n a nigger! Mr. Speaker, I believe in the American eagle, the glorious feathered songster, who rises on pinions of fire, from the lofty mountain top, and piercing the skies, soars among the bannery stars, and—and—d—m the bird; I've got him up there and can't get him down—anyhow, d—n the nigger! Why don't these as love the nigger so much go to Africa; they can enjoy their society there; we can spare them, and the country be better off without them. Andy says so, and he speaks by the book. The pure Democrisy, undefiled, can take care of the country without their help. Fernandy Wood and I could run the machine better than five hundred nigger loving, humanitarian, free loving, bloomerite d—d Abolitionists, with their infernal bureaus and civil rights bills.

If any gentleman on the other side wants his constitution amended, just let him step out into the rotundy, and I'll give him ten articles that'll give him the dyspepsy the rest of his natural life. D—m a nigger! The man from Massachusetts trots out his Latin. That don't skeer me. I ain't such a fool as some people think. E pluribus unum ex nihilo, et broadaxe et tu brute mule pour quoi vous vogue et diaphragm! No use trying to come the school marm dodge over me—d—m a nigger! Mr. Speaker, we as Democrats are sick and tired of hearing about the nigger. Why don't they say something about the white man? I'm a white man, and so is my constituents. D—n a nigger.

Mr. Speaker, them are my sentiments as a Democrat. Mr. Speaker, ——

The allotted fifteen minutes being expended, the hammer fell, and Mr. Morrissey resumed his seat.

A Polander, whose life has been a series of misfortunes, has just arrived in Paris under the following circumstances:

In 1830 he was exiled to Siberia for political crimes, from whence he escaped to Montreal, arriving there in complete poverty. After eight years of miserable life there he sailed to Brazil, and went to work in the diamond mines, and from Brazil to California, where, in a short time he collected a small fortune in gold. In 1863 he returned to Europe, and joined in the struggle for his country's independence. He was again captured and transported for life to Nertchinsk in the North of Siberia. In 1865 he found in the bed of a river masses of melted quartz mixed with melted ore. His Brazilian and California experience now came in play, and prospecting his search he discovered and secured diamonds to the value of $40,000, and near the close of summer he found one large diamond weighing 75 carats, and worth at least $[illegible]. He resolved to make his escape from Siberia through the Chinese Empire. The diamonds he secured in a belt about his person, but to make sure of the latter he had forced out one of his eyes, and in the cavity thus made hid the highly prized jewels. On his way through China he was robbed by a band of thieves of his belt and small fortune, the few which he sold to procure the necessaries of life. More Slandering of the Innocents.

Utah, it seems from the official Reports accompanying the President's Message, is not the only country where there is to be found a conflict of opinion as to the required remedy for evils, claimed to exist on one side, and on the other as stoutly denied. The same difficulties have been encountered throughout the Southern States by the General officers in command, since "peace shed her benignant smiles o'er the land." Throughout the lately rebel States a "Yankee" is most intensely hated, and esteemed a legitimate object of vengeance, at least by the pseudo leaders of the people. A Southern man who remained loyal to the Union during the war, is regarded as little better than an apostate; while the freedmen seem to be beyond the pale of any other protection than that which the military arm of the Government can vouchsafe. Such is the story on one hand. Yet on the other, the late Rebels and their representatives insist that the States of the late Confederacy are the "most peaceful and loyal" portions of the Republic. The sending of troops for the protection of loyalists, including the freedmen, is most woefully bewailed and its necessity as indignantly repudiated—in fact it is regarded as little less than an outrage of the "free, sovereign and independent" people of the South. The reports of outrages committed by ex-rebels are the vilest slanders of a most peaceful community, concocted by their enemies for their own nefarious purposes. They, therefore, protest against any more troops being sent to their region, and claim that the civil tribunals should be allowed to rectify the very few and trifling misdemeanors which may arise. Among the traducers, vilifiers and regenerators, who so oppress and destroy the "innocents" down South, is Maj.-Gen. Phil Sheridan.

In his report, which accompanies that of General Grant to Congress, he has considerable to say on the status of affairs "down South" in his Department. Although General Sheridan's "testimony" is not given under oath (except generally under his oath of office,) it is none the less distasteful on that account to the "rulers in Israel" in the happy and peaceful regions of Louisiana and Texas.

Speaking of matters in Texas when he assumed command of the Department, General Sheridan in his report says:

The condition of civil affairs in Texas was anomalous, singular and unsatisfactory. I found the Provisional Governor, backed by a small portion of the population, had for his standard of loyalty "abhorence for the rebellion and glory in its defeat," while his successor, as actual Governor, had for his standard of loyalty "pride in rebellion; that it was a righteous but lost cause, being overpowered by the Federal forces." Both of these representatives of the civil law, entertaining opposite standards for the loyalty of their subjects, I was required to support, and did it to the best of my ability; but it has been embarrassing in the extreme. Governor Hamilton, the Provisional Governor, was clamorous for more troops, and in several communications to me asserted that the civil law could not be carried out; that freedmen would be killed and Union men driven from the State without military support, which I gave whenever it was possible.

Governor Hamilton, it seems, was a sort of "Regenerator," seeking to "destroy that peaceable and loyal" community, whose standard of peace is the murder of Union men, and whose criterion of loyalty is pride in rebellion. But, continues Sheridan, "Governor Throckmorton, the present Governor, wants all the troops moved from the settled portions of the State, asserting that the civil law was all right; that justice would be done to freedmen, Union men, and our soldiers in the courts."

Governor Hamilton ought to be "fie, for shame," for thus traducing the people of the South and seeking to "coin their heart's blood" for his "nefarious purposes." But, perhaps, little else could be expected of him, because he has been a regenerator all through the war, and at the sacrifice of his all, and the risk of his life, persisted in sticking to the old flag. To make the thing still worse, Sheridan unites his voice with Hamilton, and thus slanders Governor Throckmorton's peaceful and lamb-like constituents:

But justice is not done. To give you an instance of this, two soldiers were shot at Brenham, Texas, about two months ago; they were unarmed, and offered no provocation. The Grand Jury could find no bill against their would-be assassins, but found a bill against Brevet Major Smith, Seventeenth Infantry, for burglary, because he broke into the house of some citizen in his attempt to arrest these men.

My own opinion is that the trial of a white man for the murder of a freedman in Texas, would be a farce, and in making this statement I make it because truth compels me, and for no other reason.

It is strange that over a white man killed by Indians on an extensive frontier the greatest excitement will take place, but over the killing of many freedmen in the settlements nothing is done. I cannot help but see this, and I cannot help but tell it to my superiors, no matter how unpleasant it may be to the authorities of Texas.

Now, who wonders that the "authorities of Texas," the high priests of rebellion, the immaculate and blind leaders of the blind, insist upon it that Sheridan is a very monster of iniquity and a "vile slanderer" of a persecuted people!

We beg our readers, in perusing the foregoing extracts from General Sheridan's report, to remember that he is not speaking of matters in Utah but in Texas.

"The district," he says, "there was about as much, if not more, anomaly in civil affairs than in Texas," and thereupon he slanders the people of that State by telling all [illegible] at New Orleans at the assembling of the Constitutional Convention.

So much for General Sheridan, who, if he does not speedily repent must despair of ever reaching the Heaven prepared for all good Rebels.

The promptness of our military men, who have started south at the slightest intimation's mouth as to the desire of their country's cause by every sacrifice, to slander and misrepresent "innocents," is most astonishing and altogether unaccountable. Major General Sickles has also made a report about matters in his Department—his headquarters being in that intensely "loyal" villa, ycleped Charleston, not far from Sumter, the scene of the earliest loyal and peaceful exploits of the patriots of the Carolinas.

Hear how Sickles slanders those heroes and seeks to "destroy the community" which fosters and permits him to reside among them. After recounting a number of murders of freedmen and Unionists, which he does not hesitate to characterize as outrages, he adds:

Two or three weeks ago a party of men, similarly disguised as blacks, went to the residence of Mr. Biglow, a teacher of a school for colored children in the town of Aiken, in Barnwell District; displaying weapons and threatening his life, they compelled him to leave the place, never to return, under penalty of death. Mr. Biglow was requested to return by the post commander, and was assured of protection, but declined to do so, fearing he could not, without more hazard than he was willing to incur, resume his avocation in Aiken. This place has long been a favorite Summer resort for invalids and for people of wealth and refinement in the South. It is the headquarters of a military post, garrisoned by Company H, Fifth United States Cavalry. Brevet Major Walker, United States Army, the post commander, has exerted himself with zeal and diligence to obtain sufficient testimony to justify the arrest of the perpetrators of this outrage, and although, as he reports to me, they are well known to the neighborhood and suspected by himself, it has been as yet impossible to obtain reliable testimony on the subject. The civil authorities have taken no action in the case so far as I am informed.

Even the magistrates do not escape his censorious pen, but come in for a share of "abuse, misrepresentation and slander," as we have no doubt the magistrates of South Carolina esteem it.

The magistrates are often dilatory in issuing warrants for the apprehension of offenders, if public opinion incline toward the accused. Nor are the sheriffs and constables likely in such ceses to be diligent in making arrests. Inquests by coroners, when freedmen have been killed, have seldom pointed to the guilty party. In an instance reported by the post commander at Hilton Head, that occurred in Beaufort District, the perpetrators of the homicide were on the Coroner's Jury and joined in the verdict that the victims came to their death by means to the Jury unknown. Such also was the verdict in Wesley's case, at Newberry, although the murderers were recognized on the spot and were well known to the neighborhood.

It is greatly to be hoped that Andrew Johnson will immediately remove the troops from Texas, Louisiana and South Carolina, and not allow them to pester the "peaceful and loyal" populace, or at least that he will recall Generals Sheridan and Sickels, for slandering and persecuting the innocents of the everglades of the South! As for the Union men in the South, who ask for protection, if they don't like the country as it is, they are "at liberty to emigrate" and should not be permitted to harass and persecute the heroes of the South, who now, as heretofore, only ask to be "let alone."

CENTRAL AMERICA.—Dates from Central America to December 10th say:

The opera troupe under the direction of Snr. Passini had arrived in the capital, and preparations were being made for the season, which was about to commence at the theatre of Carera.

The Nicaraguan Government has issued decrees sanctioning the contracts entered into by Senor Manuel Gros, the Commissioner of the Nicaraguan Government, and W. Vaughan, in reference to the cutting of lumber from the forests of the Republic.

According to a bull published in the Gazette, the Pope has named the distinguished divine, Manuel Ulloa, Bishop elect of Limira, and coadjutor perpetual and irrevocable of his Excellency Senor Bernardo Penol, Bishop of Nicaragua. The Government has given its assent to this apostolical bull.

The anniversary of the independence of Panama was celebrated November 28, with great eclat. There were speeches and reviews of troops, etc.

An attempt was recently made to set fire to the office of the Royal Mail Steam Packet Company. It appears that Mr. Jimenex, the clerk of the company, upon leaving the office to go to his dinner, locked the chest and put the keys in his desk which he locked, taking that key with him. Sometime afterwards the steamer Danube arrived, and Mr. Jimerez proceeded to the office, upon opening which he found it filled with smoke, produced evidently by the burning of the bedding of a couch, and the table cloths of the office. Upon examination it was found that the desk of Mr. Jenerez was forced open, the key of the chest was certainly found in it, but when the chest was opened it was discovered that between $600 and $700 were abstracted from it.

Advices from Bogota state that the difficulties between the Government and the clergy, through the intervention of General Herran, have been bridged over and settled.

Commerce is dull and there is much discontent reigning; indeed, a revolution at Antioquia against Mosquera is spoken of.

NOT DYING OUT.—A New York paper recently expressed the opinion that the Yankee stock in this country was gradually dying out; whereupon Hall's Journal of Health stoutly argues from certain statistical premises that such a thing is an impossibility. "The fact is," says the Journal, "neither Yankee men, nor Yankee principles, nor Yankee thrift, will ever die out while this planet is inhabited; and if it is ever depopulated by a conflagration, the last survivor of a smouldering world will be Jonathan at the death, singly and alone, resolutely trying to put out the fire." Hall argues that the Yankees raise eighty per cent. of their children, whereas the foreign element lose eighty per cent. of theirs.

THE WINTER.—All the indications thus far point to a remarkably mild winter. In this valley the temperature thus far has been that of early fall, and at this writing the valley is clear of snow. From Colville, we learn that there has been little or no snow as yet, and that the weather is most delightfully pleasant. In the mountains considerable snow has fallen, but the valleys everywhere are free from the winter garb.—Walla Walla Statesman, 21st ultimo.

OUT OF FUNDS.—A Canadian paper makes the following appeal:

To those indebted to us, we make our appeal for assistance. Job's turkey was a millionaire, compared with our depressed treasury. To-day, if the price of salt was two cents a barrel full, we could not buy enough to pickle a jay-bird.

Advices from Mexico discredit the report of the hanging of Escobado. Juarez was expected in Durango in one week.

London, C. W., December 31.

A switch having been left open on the Sarnia Junction railroad, a train from the main line dashed into a train on the branch road. Miss Campbell, of Port Huron, had her thigh broken, and will not recover. Kitchen and Daily, employees on the road, were badly injured; latter fatally.

Toronto, C. W., December 30.

A passenger coach on the Grand Trunk railroad rolled over an embankment near Park Hill, last Saturday, falling a distance of seventy feet; one passenger was severely injured, and several badly bruised.

Queenstown, December 31.

Steamship Asia, from Boston, arrived here this morning.

Cowes, Eng., December 31.

New York yachts sailed from Osborne House on Saturday last. The Queen witnessed their manœuvres and expressed great satisfaction. At the desire of the Queen, a match has been made between the Henrietta, Capt. Bennett, and the Duke of Edingboro's yacht Vicking. The race will occur in August next, and the course will be around the Isle of Wight. The Duke will sail his own yacht.

The officers of the New York squadron have been invited to banquet at Southampton. The dinner at Cowes was a very spirited and cordial affair.

London, December 31.

Captain Bennett of the Henrietta, and Mr. McVicker visited the Queen and dined with the Duke of Edingboro to-day. They have been invited to the Mercy Yacht Club ball, at Liverpool, which is to follow the regular annual squadron review.

A large portion of the Crystal Palace—the part which had been used for the exhibition of tropical fruits—was destroyed by fire early this morning; damage estimated at £300,000 sterling.

Paris, December 31.

A royal decree has been published which abolishes tonnage duties in French ports, except on vessels which arrive from the United States and such other countries as impose defferential duties on French vessels.

Madrid, December 41.

The Cortes has been dissolved by the Queen.

London, December 31.

The Times this morning has a complaining editorial on the toleration of Fenians by the United States Government.

London, December 31.

The British American Conference which has been in session here for a long time, has at last removed all difficulties and agreed on a basis for a confederation bill to be sent to Parliament.

It is said that Admiral Goldsborough, of the American navy, has asked permission of his government to transport Cretan refugees in war steamers.

London, January 1.

A Paris correspondent declares that a rupture between the Porte and the Kingdom of Greece is likely to take place at any moment. The London Herald, in commenting on the probability of such event, says that England would remain neutral, and that the British government had already warned Greece in consequence.

London, January 1.

The Times predicts that New Years will be one of general peace.

The revenue and trade returns of Great Britain are very satisfactory, and indicate that Mr. Disraeli, Chancellor of the Exchequer, will be able to exhibit a surplus revenue of nearly two million pounds.

Paris, January 1.

The Moniteur publishes a telegram from the United States declaring French ships placed on the same footing as American vessels, in which case vessels bearing the American flag will be free of all navigation duties in French ports.

New York, January 1.

The Legislature organized at Albany yesterday, and adjourned.

The Herald's Havana correspondent says the financial panic had ended. Vance & Raynol paid out $60,000 in the first day's run. All the banks except Vasser & Co.'s resumed payment.

Washington, January 2.

In view of the repeated thefts of United States securities, the Treasury department desires attention called to the fact that, though all coupon bonds of the Government are issued payable to bearer, so that they will pass by delivery, and are good although lost or stolen in hands of holders, the case is different with 7-30's, which are issued in blank, but with the words "or order," instead of those of "to bearer," inserted on their face. So long as the 7-30 note remains thus in blank it passes by delivery like a coupon bond, and the bona fide purchaser, for the value, can collect the sum, notwithstanding it has been lost or stolen; but in case the holder of the 7-30 fills the blank space with his name, the note then becomes his property, payable to him or order, and he cannot, therefore, be deprived of his title by any loss or larcenies any more than the holder of a check or draft payable to his order; and this is law, notwithstanding his name may have been so skillfully extracted, as by acid or otherwise, as to leave no trace of the name. If the original holder of the note can prove clearly that his name was written on the face of 7-30's, his title is good notwithstanding the erasure, even against the bona fide holder for the value, and will be recognized by the Treasury Department upon proof of the facts and will be paid to him.

BISMARCK TIMID.—The London Review has heard a rather good story of Bismarck. He is said to be partial to brandy, and before leaving Berlin for the seat of war, a little son of his asked him how long he was to be gone. He replied that he did not know. Thereupon a servant came in to inquire how many bottles of Cognac were to be packed up in the Count's luggage. "Twenty-four," was the answer. "Ah, papa," cried out the "terrible infant," "now I know how long you are to be from home—twenty-four days."

VERY GUARDED.—"Were you guarded in your conduct while in New York?" said a fond father to his son, who had just returned home from a visit to that city. "Yes, sir; part of the time by two policemen."

IN the window of a shop kept by a lady in New York is found with the words "No reasonable offer refused."

MINING.—The following interesting mining operations in Plumas county, California, are from the Quincy Union:

Ellerman & Co. are doing well in their High Bar claim. Good pay dirt has been struck at the mouth of Union Creek. White and Richards have struck good pay dirt on a high bar at the mouth of Willow Creek, and are waiting for water to commence work. White and Hall have built a house near Feather River bridge, and are making preparations to work Bowen's bar this winter. Billy McKindey & Co. have struck good diggings on Jackson Creek; they have been at work for three or four months with the determination of giving the creek a fair trial, and struck it at last.

All outside mining is suspended for the winter. Bradley, Martin & Co., in Enterprise Tunnel, are making from eight to ten dollars per day to the man. Baird, in the old Catville or Kelley tunnel, on Poorman's Creek, has been doing well since Bradley & Co. tapped the water in the Enterprise claim, which enabled him to work the low ground in the Catville tunnel without running another bedrock tunnel. A. Turner's claim is also paying well. Gus Whiting & Co. are running a tunnel under the lake. These last mentioned claims join Turner's claim on the Southwest, and promise to be the best claims on Poorman's. Evan & Co. have started a tunnel in the hill on the west side of Poorman's Creek, on the Blue Gravel lead. There have been two or three tunnels started in the hill, but they have never been able to prospect sufficiently.

The American Tunnel Company have got everything in ship-shape, and in good working order; they have not commenced breasting out yet, but are still running gangways, and draining their ground, which is very wet.

The mining companies at work in the old Elizabethtown diggings are all doing well. O'Niell & Co., near Newtown, are also getting well paid for their work. Looman & Co. are running a prospecting tunnel into the back channel of the old Plumas claims. O'Neill, Cahill & Co. are ground-sluicing at the mouth of "Donkey" ravine. All the companies at Black Hawk are at work with good prospects.

Black, in the Union claims, is taking out some good pay dirt. These claims join the American claims on the south, and are drained by the American tunnel. The boys in the Setting Sun are driving away in their new tunnel; they are in about 300 feet, and will have to run about 600 feet more, they think, and feel sanguine of striking as big pay as the American.

TRADE WITH CHINA AND JAPAN.—The San Francisco Times of the 27th ult., thus speaks of the interest manifested in California on the sailing of the first steamship for China:

The sailing of the Colorado for China on the 1st proximo is justly regarded as an event of singular interest in commercial circles, since it may be said to inaugurate a commerce that shall make San Francisco the second port of the Union at no distant day. Hence there is peculiar appropriateness in the preparations making to signalize it by a public gathering. Prominent representatives of the city's business are arranging for a grand dinner, to which about 250 guests will be invited, representing all departments of the National, State and Municipal Governments, the New York and San Francisco Chambers of Commerce, the press, the steamship, railroad, and telegraph companies, and the Chinese merchants. There will be present also several prominent gentlemen from the East, who have arrived here on their way to Kanagawa and Hong Kong. The occasion will be one of remarkable interest. The dinner will be given next Monday evening, at the Occidental Hotel.

GENERAL CROOKS has apparently inaugurated a somewhat different style of warfare than that which has been practiced for the most part during the past summer. Instead of marching back to Fort Boise, he sends for more men and rations to go after them again. —Idaho Statesman.

LICENSED VEHICLES IN SAN FRANCISCO.—Laundry wagons, sprinklers and hand carts, 91; market, milk and grocery wagons, 1722; single wagons, drays, trucks and carts 2700; double team wagons, two or more horses, 638; coaches, hacks, omnibuses and coupes, 220; street railroad cars, 260. Total, 5631.

DIED.—We learn with regret that Mr. Geary, who shot himself about a week ago, died from his wounds on Saturday last. The deceased leaves a wife and five children to mourn his loss.

The Daily Union Vedette

Local and Miscellaneous.

ADVERTISERS.—The VEDETTE is the pioneer newspaper of Utah. Its extensive circulation in the mining camp and city of Montana and Idaho, which it gives the telegraphic despatches a whole week ahead of the Pacific papers,) makes it the most prolific medium for advertising in these four Territories.

A New Volume.

With this morning present to our readers the first number of the Seventh Volume of the VEDETTE, and in doing so we feel proud in the conviction that the career of the VEDETTE has met with the approval of the press generally throughout this entire continent. Commencing as it did, under such disadvantages, the difficulties surrounding the transportation of materials, that involved great expense, the old established papers in this city, in a long and determined opposition to a medium that would convey truth to the masses of the people, we have continued thus far to pursue steadily the object which called the paper into existence, viz.: The disenthrallment of a deluded people from the oppression and consequent to despotic power. How well we have been successful time will show. We call attention that our little sheet, with the feeble efforts of the various conductors of its columns and the controllers of its policy, has elicited from the advocates of its principles throughout the country has more than our fondest hopes.

It is the pioneer daily paper in the Territories, the bold defender of the people's rights, the able advocate of the laws of our country, and the bitter denunciator of a doctrine that is antagonistic to the very principles of morality and true religion.

RECKLESS.—The utter recklessness of conduct on the part of a number of boys who throng Main street, and indulge in hanging on to the sleighs as they pass and repass that crowded thoroughfare, should be checked. It is not only a great nuisance, but it too often jeopardizes the loss of limbs, if not lives, of those young and thoughtless juveniles who indulge in that practice. Every driver should enforce protest against it by word, or whip, and if that will not avail, the police might be instructed to use their power to prevent the practice. Petition of such a careless exposure of life and limb. If parents will not keep their children at home, the authorities can prevent their continuance in a practice which is calculated to result to the injury of the young and thoughtless.

THE LICENSE CASE.—In our report of the arrest of Mr. Hook, on Saturday, we stated that was in consequence of a violation of the Revenue Act. Mr. Hook has make an explanation, which we cheerfully publish for the benefit of the Colonel. The charge was for violation of the city ordinance, and Mr. Hook paid the fine of one hundred dollars. From the statement of Mr. Hook we are satisfied that there was no intention to defraud anyone, but as a mere trade was made, giving a variety of articles, including liquor, for a stock of goods, he did not think it was necessary to obtain a license. We believe the Colonel was entirely exonerated from any intention to violate any law.

TIME.—We have for a long time intended to call attention to the fact that this city is much in want of a permanent and true time regulator. The various watch-making establishments all differ. Yesterday we were most forcibly reminded of this necessity by observing a dealer in watches, who possesses a "quick" disposition, regulating his watch by the clock of a cotemporary in the business, whose time is said to run as smooth as the "waters" of an unruffled lake. Now some one start in, and it will be a big advertisement for their business, for everybody carries a watch, and will quote, when asked the time, the name of the store where it was obtained.

THE LAWYERS EMEUTE.—The recent difficulty which occurred between two members of the profession that is always on one side or the other, was decided on Saturday last by Judge Clinton, who, in charging the Jury in the case of the City vs. Thurmond, intimated that the scriptural rule which provides for the turning of the other cheek, &c., might on certain occasions be dispensed with. Mr. Thurmond was acquitted without the Jury leaving their seats. Mr. Gibbs, the other combatant, was fined $25. There is yet hope good in Nazareth.

BUDGET OF NEWS.—We again have to thank that enterprising and attentive Major of the San Francisco Literary Depot for a renewal of his favors in the shape of periodicals. The last batch consisted of the Phunny Fellow, Comic Monthly, New York Ledger, Literary Album, Harper's and Leslie's Illustrated Weeklies. If you desire anything in the reading line, you have only to apply in person or by letter to Stratman and it will be forthcoming.

STAMPEDE.—Some wag, at the theatre on Saturday night, circulated the report that "Wade's bill" had passed. In an instant there were many empty seats, and crowds could be seen going towards the telegraph office to find out the hoax. Who was the originator of the joke no one could discover, but a Frenchman on the street was heard to say it was "ze brisk" joke. Calm was shortly restored and the play went on.

ACCIDENT.—A lad named Wilson was run over by one of the fast teams on Saturday afternoon. The accident occurred on Main street, in front of the Salt Lake House. Dr. Pratt, who attended the case, informs us that no bones were broken, but that there are evidences of internal injuries. The lad is about 12 years of age, and his parents live in the 3d Ward.

SNOW.—The California papers all announce the prevalence of floods throughout the State. The rivers in some places, particularly around Sacramento, have risen as high as in 1862. The Stockton Independent says that considerable excitement existed in their city on Christmas day, owing to the danger apprehended from a freshet of "egg-nog."

APPLES.—This prototype of the temptation in the garden of Eden appeared at our office in the shape of a bushel basket filled with fine Winter Pippins. While we claim no better virtue than our great ancestor, we are resistee. We cannot be tempted, and our office report still goes on.

100,000 pounds of Stone Coal at the Pioneer Yard delivered free of charge in any part of the city. Leave orders at Ross & Barnes's Store, or at the Yard east of Emigration Square. 2t*

THANKS.—Mr. Thurmond, a distinguished member of the legal profession in this city, has kindly presented the office with a basket of fine apples. He will please accept our thanks.

And nothing conceals,
Regarding the wear of his clothes
But speaks with the truth,
To man and to youth,
Which each of his customers knows.

Hence, friends, one and all,
Go to Anker's Hall,
Walk boldly—don't cowardly creep,
For there you'll find,
All obliging and kind,
With Clothing tremendously cheap.
